Agenda

The Philipp Schwartz and Inspireurope Stakeholder Forum 2022 is convened jointly by the Philipp Schwartz Initiative of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation and the Inspireurope Project, a consortium of ten partner organisations across Europe that are committed to the protection and support of researchers at risk. Funded under the European Commission's Marie Skłodowska-Curie Actions and led by Scholars at Risk Europe at Maynooth University, Ireland, Inspireurope anchors the work already underway on a national level in different European countries and lays the groundwork on a European level for durable support structures.

The 2022 Stakeholder Forum will reflect on the situation and the work of displaced scholars who have found placements in other countries. It will discuss the state of academic freedom in specific regions. It will also present mutual learning opportunities for at-risk scholars, academic mentors, and higher education administrators working to support at-risk academics and to strengthen academic freedom. In collaboration with Academics in Solidarity, a mentoring programme hosted at Freie Universität Berlin, a particular focus will be placed on offering information and coaching sessions for at-risk scholars who are working towards long-term professional perspectives.

Participants will include Philipp Schwartz fellows, at-risk scholars supported by other organizations, academic mentors, university administrators, national, European, and international partner organisations, as well as other attendees from academia, politics, civil society.

The conference is a hybrid event, which will take part in Berlin as well as online. All programme events are scheduled using Central European Summer Time (CEST). Up to 250 participants are expected to participate in this hybrid event, and the conference language will be English. Please note that on-site participation in this event is by invitation only and requires advance registration. The online programme can be followed live on the YouTube channel of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation at <https://www.youtube.com/user/AvHStiftung/videos>

The Philipp Schwartz Initiative

Under the Philipp Schwartz Initiative, the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation has been granting funding to universities and research institutions in Germany to host threatened researchers for a period of two years since 2016. The host institutions receive funding that completely covers the costs of a research fellowship or an employment contract. Sponsorship can be extended by one year under a co-financing model. In addition, the host institution is granted an allowance of € 20,000 per individual sponsored. This financial support is complemented by the provision of a platform to connect host institutions, researchers at risk and other organisations active in this field. Its highlight is the annual Philipp Schwartz Forum. So far, 328 researchers from 24 countries have been sponsored under the Philipp Schwartz Initiative.

This event is part of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation's Philipp Schwartz Initiative, which is funded by:

Federal Foreign Office

Who was Philipp Schwartz?

The pathologist Philipp Schwartz (* 19 / 07 / 1894) became a professor of pathology at Goethe University Frankfurt in 1927. Being from a Jewish family, he was summarily dismissed from the university in 1933 when the National Socialists seized power. He fled to Switzerland where he founded the "Notgemeinschaft deutscher Wissenschaftler im Ausland" (Emergency Society of German Scholars Abroad) in the same year. Its aim was to find employment abroad for persecuted academics. The organisation interceded on behalf of several hundred refugee researchers. Most of them went to Turkey, where Kemal Atatürk was in the process of reforming the higher education system based on the Western European model. Schwartz personally negotiated with representatives of the Turkish government and immediately managed to secure places there for 30 researchers who had been dismissed from posts in Germany. The Emergency Society also cooperated with the Academic Assistance Council, the predecessor of the Council for At-Risk Academics. In 1934, Schwartz himself accepted a chair at the newly established Istanbul University, becoming director of the Institute of Pathology. After the Second World War, his desired return to Frankfurt University as a professor was denied him. He emigrated to the United States in the early 1950s and continued to work as a pathologist at Warren State Hospital in Pennsylvania, where he headed a geriatric research institute from 1967 onwards. Schwartz died in the United States in 1977.

Alexander von Humboldt
Stiftung/Foundation

The Alexander von Humboldt Foundation

The Alexander von Humboldt Foundation promotes academic cooperation between excellent scientists and scholars from abroad and from Germany. As an intermediary organisation for German foreign cultural and educational policy the Foundation promotes international cultural dialogue and academic exchange.

Inspireurope

Supporting Researchers at Risk

Inspireurope is a 10-partner project funded under the European Commission's Marie Skłodowska-Curie Actions and coordinated by Scholars at Risk Europe at Maynooth University, Ireland. Inspireurope facilitates transnational cooperation across Europe to support researchers at risk. As pressures on academic freedom are growing around the world, so too are pressures on individual researchers. Inspireurope partners join forces across Europe to respond. Inspireurope's activities include: Policy recommendations to strengthen European support for researchers at risk; Exchange and mutual learning between key actors in research and innovation in Europe; Training and guidance for researchers at risk; Training and guidance for employers; and growing the network of actors supporting researchers at risk, especially in Central, Eastern & Southern Europe and in the non-academic sector.

Academics in Solidarity

For the coaching sessions in Track 1 on Wednesday, the Philipp Schwartz Initiative is proud to partner with "Academics in Solidarity" (AiS), drawing on their immense experience as a peer-mentoring program that connects exiled researchers and established scholars in Germany, Lebanon and Jordan. It seeks to create a network of solidarity, strengthen the value of cross-cultural research cooperation and open up new perspectives within the academic environment of the host country. AiS offers support to displaced and endangered scholars through mentoring, academic counselling, systematic network building, and funding of small research endeavors. It further benefits mentors by offering them special training as well as administrative and technical support both prior to and throughout the mentoring process. The project is hosted by Freie Universität Berlin and funded by the Federal Ministry of Education and Research (BMBF).

Event Information

The main venue for this year's Philipp Schwartz and Inspireurope Stakeholder Forum is Cafe Moskau on Karl-Marx-Allee, in the former East Berlin. The Cafe was the centrepiece of the first socialist residential complex, built in East Berlin from 1961-1964. It once was served as one of seven international restaurants and was meant to symbolise the fraternal relations between the German Democratic Republic and the Soviet Union.

Walking distance to the conference hotel Park Inn Alexanderplatz is 15 minutes. Alternatively, subway line U5 runs between stops Schillingstraße at Cafe Moskau and Alexanderplatz at the Park Inn.

This year, the Forum will be realised as a hybrid event. In addition to conference parts taking place on-site only, other elements of the programme will be broadcast via livestream on the event app and on the Humboldt Foundation's YouTube channel. Other sessions are exclusively aimed at an online audience and can be accessed via the event app.

Download the mobile app via the appropriate QR code. Open the app, enter the event code R5C63 at the top and join the event by entering your personal login details.

Throughout the event, scholars will be exhibiting posters on their ongoing research. The exhibition takes place in the corridor next to the room "Bischkek".

Coaches

NEELA ENKE

Scienza Berlin

Dr Neela Enke holds a doctorate in Biology and has over 10 years experience as a researcher and team leader in several European research institutions. She is a coach for PhD candidates, professors, team leaders and teams. Her main topics are career development in academia and beyond, self- and project management, leadership as well as diversity and conflict management. As a trained mediator she also has a focus on conflicts in research organisations.

ANNETTE KOLB

Coachademics - Beratung und Training für Akademiker:innen

Prof. Dr. Annette Kolb is nationally active as a freelance trainer, consultant and coach for scientists. Her activities focus on topics such as strategic third-party funding acquisition and strategic career planning. Before starting her independent work in 2014, she was a professor in the Department of Biosciences at Goethe University Frankfurt and from 2015-2020 a research associate in the science coordination staff of the Senckenberg Gesellschaft für Naturforschung.

CHRISTINE ISSA

Saminworld

Christine Issa is an advisor, trainer, coach and co-founder of SAMIN-WORLD in Duesseldorf. She is a registered merchant (IHK), a certified Mastercoach (DGfC) and a Geographer with a PhD in Geographical Conflict Research. She has years of international project management experience in industry and academia.

She has years of working experience in industry, scientific project management and consulting for cooperation in Higher Education with a special focus on Afghanistan. She specializes in sustainable learning and dialogue processes. She is an expert in conflict management, cross-cultural collaboration, and sustainable leadership. She is the author of several publications in the field of Geographical Development Research.

EVA REICHELT

beruf & leben GbR

Eva Reichelt is since 2011 owner of beruf & leben GbR and working as a trainer and consultant for career planning, doctoral studies, job-related competences and University teaching. From 2004 to 2010 she established a service unit for study, teaching and career at a university. Prior to that she worked for 7 years in consulting and training for HR and OD in the private sector. 1990 - 2001 teaching and research at the University of Bielefeld. She works with universities nationwide, allowing ideas from other areas to be incorporated into her work - and she knows both Academia and the private sector from practical experience.

ABEL POLESE

Dublin City University

Abel Polese is a trainer, researcher and development worker with work experience in Eastern Europe, Asia, Africa and Latin America. He is the author of "The SCOPUS Diaries and the (il)logics of Academic Survival A Short Guide to Design Your Own Strategy and Survive Bibliometrics, Conferences, and Unreal Expectations in Academia" a book offering guidance on management of research careers. He regularly trains scholars in publication strategies, fundraising and networking for career enhancement.

Alexander von Humboldt Foundation

ENNO AUFDERHEIDE

Dr. Enno Aufderheide is the Secretary General of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation. He previously held positions at the German Aerospace Centre, served as head of the Research Department at the German Council of Science and Humanities, as executive director of the "Science" Section at the Helmholtz Association, and as head of the Research Policy and External Relations Department at the Max Planck Society. He also managed the Minerva Foundation for the promotion of German-Israeli academic cooperation. He has been a member of national and international committees for the promotion of science and authored numerous academic and science policy publications, for which he received distinctions such as the Kussmaul Medal of the German Society for Rheumatology. An alumnus of the German National Academic Foundation, he studied biology at the universities of Bielefeld and Bonn and was a Fulbright Fellow at the University of Colorado in Boulder, USA. He worked on his doctoral dissertation at the Max Planck Society's Friedrich Miescher Laboratory and obtained his doctorate from Tübingen University.

JUDITH WELLEN

Dr. Judith Wellen is head of the Strategy department at the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation and the Foundation's Representative for External Relations. She served as head of the International Strategy Office at Humboldt Universität zu Berlin and as personal advisor to the president of the university. Previously, she was head of several executive training programmes at the Goethe Institut. Following studies in Tübingen, Dublin, Berlin and Madrid, she was an associated fellow of the German-French graduate school "Institutional Orders, Text and Symbols" at École Pratique des Hautes Études-Sorbonne, Paris, and Technische Universität Dresden. Wellen holds an M.A. in Art History and Cultural Anthropology from Humboldt Universität, and a Ph.D. with distinction in Art History from Freie Universität Berlin. Her numerous grants include a Ph.D. scholarship from the Cusanuswerk (Episcopal Scholarship Foundation). Her dissertation examined the relationship between art and politics, in particular the subject of political iconography in Early Modern Spain.

Identity protection

Kindly note that the Forum will be open to attendees from various backgrounds, including individual members of the press, and that attendees will be able to see names and institutional affiliations of other attendees. The organizers invite you to choose a pseudonym to protect your identity if necessary. All participants will be verified by the organisers or their cooperation partners. However, parts of the Forum will also be streamed for public access: These publicly accessible parts are clearly marked in the programme. Organizers may document parts of the event via video or screenshots for public relations purposes. In addition, the conference organisers will contract a photographer to document the event. Most meeting rooms and lecture halls will feature designated areas where filming and photography is prohibited, but not all photography or filming may be preventable. Photographs and recordings may be published by the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation or the joint convenors for the purpose of information and public relations work. They will not be used for commercial purposes.
